

If I start a software company I will choose my batch mates Jayanth, Nitish Kumar,

The reason why I choose them is that they have a responsible character and moreover they work hard in most difficult situations, both will handle pressure situations in a very great way, They also help me to learn new tech and also always push to strive for the better goals. They work in both hard and smart ways that help me to do things much better. They make complex things look simple, they always see both failure and success in the same way. They always maintain a positive attitude .so these are things that make me choose these two people.
